One of A Kind Pet Rescue Seeks Full-Time Surgical Veterinarian to Continue Lifesaving Work

Akron, OH — [November 5, 2025] — One of A Kind Pet Rescue, a nonprofit organization dedicated to saving the lives of homeless pets throughout Northeast Ohio, is seeking a full-time surgical veterinarian to join its team and help sustain the organization's critical spay/neuter and medical programs.

For nearly two decades, One of A Kind Pet Rescue has provided affordable veterinary care, performed thousands of surgeries, and given countless dogs and cats a second chance at life. The organization's low-cost spay/neuter and rescue programs not only reduce overpopulation but also ease the burden on local shelters and protect public health.

"Our clinic is the heartbeat of our mission," said Tanya Jonda, Executive Director of One of A Kind Pet Rescue. "Without a full-time surgeon, we risk losing our ability to serve the community at the same level. The number of pets we can rescue, treat, and adopt out depends directly on maintaining surgical capacity. We're hopeful the right veterinarian will join us in continuing this lifesaving work."

In 2024 alone, One of A Kind Pet Rescue:

- Performed more than 6,500 spay and neuter surgeries
- Rescued and rehomed over 4,500 pets
- Provided affordable wellness care for over 1,000 local pets in need

The organization's impact extends far beyond its Akron adoption center — it's a vital safety net for pets across the region, especially those rescued from high-risk situations or surrendered by families facing hardship.

"Every day we see pets who would not survive without access to medical care," Jonda added. "Our surgical team is essential to making that possible. We're looking for a compassionate veterinarian who believes in our mission and wants to make a tangible difference."

One of A Kind Pet Rescue offers a supportive, mission-driven environment where veterinary professionals can focus on patient care and community impact rather than profit margins.
